RUHS-BH believes that people with mental illness can and do recover and go on to lead rich, productive and satisfying lives.

Prevention and Early Intervention is funded by the Mental Health Services Act (MHSA)

rcdmh.org/MHSA/pei

Our goal is to:

- Increase community outreach and awareness regarding mental health within unserved and underserved populations.
- Increase awareness of mental health topics and reduce discrimination.
- Prevent the development of mental health issues by building protective factors and skills, increasing support, and reducing risk factors or stressors.
- Increase education and awareness of Suicide Prevention; implement strategies to eliminate suicide in Riverside County; train helpers for a suicide-safer community.
- Address a condition early in its manifestation that is of relatively low intensity and is of relatively short duration (less than one year).

Post-traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and other forms of traumatic stress can make life incredibly difficult and unpredictable. Intrusive thoughts and flashbacks can just show up without a moment's notice, affecting your ability to function. Staying away from the people, places and situations that trigger these thoughts and memories can be appropriate and helpful at times. However, using avoidance as your only strategy can cause more problems than it attempts to solve. These symptoms can't be avoided all the time, and trying to may cause you to close yourself off to opportunities, create anxiety or feel even more restrained by your traumatic experience. It may also be harmful to only have one method of coping because it may not help you every time. Rather it's better to have an abundance of tools at the ready for when you're feeling the scary reach of traumatic stress. Here are some diverse coping methods to add to your toolbox:

USE THE “WINDOW OF TOLERANCE”

The “Window of Tolerance” (WoT) concept is a way to identify and talk about your current mental state. Being inside your window means that you're doing okay and can function effectively. When you're outside of the window, it means you have been triggered and you are experiencing a traumatic-stress response.

BREATHE SLOWLY AND DEEPLY

This is a free and portable tool to use anytime and anywhere. Make sure you inhale through your nose and exhale for longer than you inhale, either through your nose or through pursed lips.

VALIDATE YOUR EXPERIENCE

What you have experienced is real and hurtful. Having the name or context of traumatic stress/PTSD lets you know that how you feel is not your fault. There is nothing “wrong” with you.

FOCUS ON YOUR FIVE SENSES (5-4-3-2-1)

Start with five different things you see, hear, sense with your skin, taste, and smell (stale air or perfume). Then notice four of each, then three of each, and so on. Be as specific about these items as you can to make you really concentrate on external factors and to get out of your head.

THINK POSITIVELY FOR 12 SECONDS

Bring to mind something positive. Such as a beautiful flower, a sunset, a smile on someone's face or a compliment from a friend or colleague. And really focus on it for 12 seconds.

Seeking Safety is a present focused, coping skills program designed to simultaneously support individuals with a history of trauma and substance use, or other unsafe behaviors. The primary goal of this program is to reduce the duration and harmful effects of trauma for individuals most at risk of developing mental health challenges. This will result in increased resiliency and development of coping strategies.

- Learn ways to detach from emotional pain
- Identify how to navigate through moments when triggers or feelings are overwhelming
- Practice ways to live in the present by finding new ways to cope

The two programs below utilize Seeking Safety curriculum

This year’s May is Mental Health Matters Month theme, “Hope for Change”, reminds us to rely on the hope that carried us through a year of change! As the seasons changing reminds us, change is an inevitable part of life. This year has brought many unexpected challenges. Riverside County continues its virtual campaign to help change the conversation about Mental Health, and promote mental wellness in a variety of ways, as we continue to navigate and adapt to changes in our lives. To help navigate these many changes, the Up2Riverside.org webpage is offering a free mental wellness kit! Physical kits are available to Riverside County residents only and while supplies last. A digital kit is available for download to anyone when you visit this link.

The Calendar and Activity Guide has a unique theme each week that supports the overall theme of “Hope for Change”. We are asking those that participate in the many activities through social media to use the hashtags so we can track all the activities throughout our County. If you would like more information please email PEI at PEI@ruhealth.org. #PEIMay2021 #HopeForChange
